ABSTRACT

A method for extracting desired data from a digital database comprising the steps of specifying desired data elements to be extracted from an operational database, generating executable code from the identified data elements 5   for extracting the identified data elements from the database, and executing the executable code thereby extracting the identified data elements from the database.

4$4J01!.DOC\12976\14\210115.01

44